A POLITICAL MOVE?

Mr. Cassidy Insisted on His Libel Case Being Pressed To-Day.

Pleaded Not Guilty to Ex-Judge Jeroloman's Charges.

His Trial Finally Adjourned Because of More Important Ones.

There was every prospect of a lively skirmish in Part I. of the Court of General Sessions this morning when the case of Patrick Sarsfield Cassidy, who is charged by ex-Judge Jeroloman, candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen on the LXX. ticket, with criminal libel, should come up for con

Judge Fitzgerald was sitting, and the case was down on the calendar for pleading. The charge arose from a let-ter sent by Mr. Cassidy to Chairman Lexow, of the Senate Investigating Com mittee, requesting him to institute an inquiry into the official conduct of ex-Judge Jeroloman, while he was presiding in the Eighth District Court.

It was stated by Cassidy in this letter that ex-Judge Jeroloman had appointed Robert J. Cook Clerk of the Court at a salary of $3,000 a year, of which he compelled Cook to pay over to him $1.000. This letter was published, and it is upon this statement of Cassidy's that Candidate Jeroloman brings his charge of criminal libel. Cassidy was indicted and arrested last week, and was released on bonds given by ex-Senator

A is said that he wants to bring on the trial of the case as soon as possible, and for this reason he challenged ex-Judge Jeroloman to meet him before the tribunal of General Sessions this morning and be prepared to go on with the case. With this purpose in view he served subpoenss upon Senator Lexow. John W. Goff and William Travers Jerome to attend court this morning and be prepared to be examined as witnesses.

Mr. Cassidy's counsel are Friend & House, who, it was intimated this morning, would like to get a whack at some of the Lexow people on the witnessiand.

of the Lexow people on the witnessstand.

Cassidy claims that Chairman Lexow violated all the rules of professional etiquette, because he declares the Senator gave out his letter for publication.
Chairman Lexow on the other hand asserts very emphatically that no one but himself saw the letter in question till it was published in a morning paper and ex-Judge Jeroloman brought it to his attention by coming to his office and demanding to see the original.

The only persons who went efore the Grand Jury, and upon whose testimony the indictment was based was ex-Judge Jeroloman himself, and Robert J. Cook, the Court Clerk whom he had appointed.

At 11 o'clock this morning Lawyer Emanuel Friend and his client, Mr. Cassidy, were in court. The latter said to an "Evening World" reporter that he intended to push his case to trial with all the speed possible.

"These are extraordinary times," he said, "and the usual rules of the Court may be suspended to allow justice to be

Mr. Cassidy came forward with his

Mr. House answered for his client that he pleaded not guilty and was ready for trial. It was expected that some motion for an immediate trial would be made, as a dozen or more witnesses had been summoned according to Mr. Pittman, but no such request was made, and after the clerk had entered the pica Mr. Cassidy and his friends withdrew.

Neither Mr. Goff, Mr. Moss nor Senator Lexow were present, although they had all been subpoensed. Mr. Goff was seen afterwards at his office, and he said that his clerk was present in General Sessions when the case was called, and he had been instructed to notify him immediately if his presence was needed.

The news te-day continues to vindicate the appproach of what must be the final crists in the Chinese-Japanese struggle-the attack upon Fekin. and he had been instructed to notify him immediately if his presence was needed.

"I am so busy just at present," said Mr. Goff, "that I found it aimost impossible to attend court this morning. It was the same with Senator Lexow and Mr. Moss."

Assistant District-Attorney O'Hara gaid that he had consulted with Mr. House, and that the final conclusion reached was that it would be utterly immossible to bring on the case for trit to-day, when the calendar was already filled and other and more important cases were awaiting trial.

It was the general opinion that Mr. Cassidy's scheme was an impossible one, and that the threat to bring the matter before the court to-day was simply a case of cold blum.

After the pleading, Lawyer Pittman said that he had been assured by the District-Attorney that Mr. Cissidy's case would be brought in for trial a speedily as possible, and that this decision was satisfactory to the defendant.

> Conductor Decker's Narrow Escape in Trying to Save Him.

(Special to The Evening World.)
RUTHERFORD, N. J., Nov. 8.—Francis Callanen, treasurer of the Union Traction Company, a well-to-do resident of this place, was killed by the 8.15 Bergen County express, which he was boarding for New York, this morning. Singularly enough, he had been fore warned of his fate repeatedly by the man who this morning nearly lost his own life in an effort to save him. Mr. Callanen took this train regularly very morning. As it is quite crowded when the Rutherford passengers are taken on, it was his practice to swing upon the front plaform of the smoke sefore the train stopped, and by this means he usually secured a seat.

Conductor Decker, who is regularly in charge of this train, and personally knows most of his commuters, had discovered Mr Callanen's little scheme to get a seat, and frequently warned him of the danger of it. This morning as the train slackened up at the station Mr. Callanen had his favorite post, and as the front platform of the smoker passed the front platform of the smoker passed him he quickly shut his umbrella and caught the guard rail. As he did so his foot slipped on the wet steps and, hindered by his umbrella, he could not support himself, and swung around betweer the cars.

Conductor Decker was on the platform, and leaning forward, he caught Mr. Callanen by the coat collar. Mr. Callanen was a heavy man, and the motion of the train was forcing him slowly on a deadly swing downward and to the rear.

At last the strain broke his own hold and he went down, hauling Conductor Decker over the rail until at the last limit of his strength he released the unfortunate man.

limit of his strength he released the unfortunate man.

The train passed over him, the wheels cutting off the top of his head and scooping the brain from the skull.

The accident was witnessed by throngs on the platform, and the passengers on the train heard the outery and felt the jar and shock as the wheels passed over the victim's body. The greatest excitement ensued; men and women were horror-stricken and sickened. Numbers abandoned their city trips and went home half fainting.

The body was taken to Mr. Callanen's home on Home avenue. His wife, with whom he had parted in health but a few moments before, was prostrated with grief.

Mr. Callanen was born in Utica, N. Y., about forty-two years ago, and since his youth had been identified with steam and street railway interests. As an office boy he was employed by the old Midland and Utica Railroad and later enterted the employ of the Utica, Clinton and Binghamton Railroad.

For several years he was Secretary and Treasurer of the Utica City Railway, and in 1857 he went to Syracuse, where he organized and built the People's Railway and the iron pier, a somewhat noted resort on Onondaga Lake.

From Syracuse, he went to Oswego, where he bought the local street railway, bringing it to a high state of efficiency.

From Oswego he came to New York
